"In 2018, we will continue to produce your paper products in Beerse, a stone's throw from Turnhout, the capital of the Kempen. Despite globalisation, this remains a deliberate choice. This region in northern Belgium is renowned for its paper-processing and graphics industries.

The concentration of printing shops, cardboard producers, bookbinders and even a producer of playing cards ensures the availability of highly-trained staff. We are very proud to have been a part of these core companies since 1935.

The redesigned political landscape, with unpredictable monetary fluctuations, together with the announced changes in the paper and pulp market, predict interesting times again for 2018.

Together with our motivated colleagues, and equipped with fully automatic machines, we are ready to once again provide you with all available resources to face these challenges.

The recent restyling of our "Office", "Splendid" and "Raphaël" stationery ranges has proved to be a success. Hot off the press, I can already announce that we will launch a new 90gr "Mano" version in 2019.

"Made in Belgium" not only indicates a location on the world map, but also provides a guarantee for the social framework, ethical policy and energy this beautiful country is known for."

Guy Peeters, General Manager

Sustainable business practices

Aurora has been working on the basis of sustainable business practices for more than 80 years. Today, this means that sustainable entrepreneurship is a responsibility we do not want to avoid.

"Sustainable business practices means the pursuit of higher operating efficiency in all business decisions, while at the same time using every opportunity to improve the environment and enhance the well-being of the employees and society. In these activities, we strive to go beyond what the law requires, through our social involvement and a forward-thinking vision."

Sustainable entrepreneurship at AURORA is a continuous internal improvement process, but with limited communication to external stakeholders. Given its limited and family-run organisational structure, obtaining an ISO certificate is not an immediate aim.

In 2017, AURORA was awarded the 'significant progress award' by the insurer FM for its efforts in the field of fire prevention.

PEFC 07/31-235

The "Programme for the Endorsement of Forest Certification Schemes" (PEFC) is the world's leading forest certification system. The certificate is awarded by an independent certification body, and guarantees sustainable forest management that is environmentally-friendly, characterised by corporate social responsibility and ecologically viable.

FSC SGSCH-COC-003214

The "Forest Stewardship Council" (FSC) is an international, independent, non-government and non-profit organisation aiming at the global pursuit of a responsible forest policy at a social, ecological and economic level.

BSCI 15814

The "Business Social Compliance Initiative" (BSCI) provides suppliers with a code of conduct that supports them in their efforts to set up an ethical supply chain. This code of conduct is based on international treaties that protect the rights of workers. The code includes the following key concepts: a policy based on corporate social responsibility, freedom of association, working hours and overtime, non-discrimination, the fight against child labour and forced labour, special protection of young employees, payment of a minimum salary, facilities for a safe and healthy workplace, protection of the environment and secure employment.

Providing our customers with quality products in a sustainable manner remains our challenge and passion.

TIMELESS

A 2,000-year-old tablet with lead pages that was found in Jordan in 2008 may contain the first written reference to Jesus. This is at least the claim of some of the scientists who studied the work.

Note the similarities with the modern ADOC ring system.

Timeless - but introduced in Belgium under the ADOC brand name in 1966.

SPLENDID

DO YOU REMEMBER

Atomium – Brussels Expo 58

André Ernest Modeste Grétry (1741 - 1813) a Liège-based composer

Adolphe Sax (1814-1894) – the inventor of the saxophone

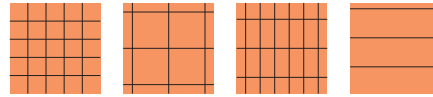

James Ensor (1860 - 1949) artist

Back-to-School

Belgium is a SPLENDID country, but did you learn at school that:

1. Belgium produces more than 800 different beers - although the exact number is disputed. On average, Belgians drink 150 litres of beer per person per year.
2. Belgium produces 220,000 tonnes of chocolate a year. That is about 22 kg of chocolate per person. Fortunately, it's not only Belgians who eat all this chocolate. Brussels Airport is the world's largest point of sale for chocolate.
3. After Malta, Belgium has the smallest salary gap between men and women in the EU, and had the highest percentage of female ministers in the world (55%) in the year 2000.
4. Compulsory education in Belgium is up to the age of 18, one of the highest in the world.
5. Belgians pay one of the highest tax rates in the world, amounting to about 40% of their gross income. Taxation represents 45.6% of GDP.
6. Belgium was the scene of Napoleon's final defeat at Waterloo, to the south of Brussels.
7. The Court of Brussels is the largest Court of Justice in the world (26,000 m² floor space). It is larger than the St. Peter's Basilica in Rome.
8. The saxophone was invented by Adolphe Sax (1814-1894) in the Belgian city of Dinant in the early 1840s.
9. The Body Mass Index (BMI) was developed by the Belgian Adolphe Quételet, and is still used today to determine a person's ideal weight.
10. Brussels was a famous refuge for Europeans in exile. Together with Friedrich Engels, Karl Marx wrote the Communist Manifesto between 1845 and 1848. Victor Hugo was also in exile here, and completed Les Misérables during his visit to Waterloo in 1861.

OFFICE

BRUSSELS

A few tips for a pleasant and inspiring workplace

1. Keep your desk tidy and give it a personal touch

A clean desk policy is not only pleasant for your surroundings, but also for the peace and quiet in your head. In order to perform well, it is important that you feel at home in your work environment. You could, for example, place a photograph on your desk, or an item that brings back fond memories.

2. Plants and greenery at home

Greenery in the workplace has a positive effect on people. Plants improve the air quality, for example, and they reduce stress. But even artificial plants brighten up the department, particularly in combination with a nice, colourful flowerpot.

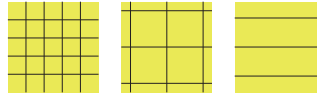

3. Have a walk around the block during the break

Fresh air and the people in the street may provide you with unexpected inspiration. Plants in your workplace also give it a fresh, green look. This brings the outdoor atmosphere indoors.

4. Ensure proper lighting

Lighting is an important element for working well. Daylight is of great importance, and, in addition to general lighting, a desk lamp may create the right working environment. This can be switched on and off as you wish.

Some useful tips to create order in your administration

1. Handle your incoming mail in a systematic and sensible manner. Buy convenient in-trays and label the different levels with terms such as 'to be paid', 'to do' and 'to be filed'.
2. Keep a separate folder for each customer, and organise your documents alphabetically or chronologically. This will enable you to quickly retrieve all information on a specific customer.
3. File purchase and sales invoices in two separate folders. Organise these folders chronologically, with the most recent invoice at the top. In this way, you will have all information for your VAT or tax return at your fingertips at the end of the year or the quarter.
4. Purchase a convenient filing cabinet. A sensible archiving and filing system only works if you know where your perfectly structured folders can be found - in your filing cabinet.
5. Make the necessary time to deal with your administration. Reserve a fixed time in the week to handle your paperwork. In this way, you can save yourself a lot of time, worry and money.

RAPHAEL

The creative Belgian

At least one famous Belgian artist stands out in each important period of art history.

The 'Flemish Primitives' made a major contribution to the world of art in the late Middle Ages, in particular the painters Rogier van der Weyden and Jan Van Eyck. Jan Van Eyck's masterpieces include "the Adoration of the Mystic Lamb" (1426-1432, St Bavo's Cathedral in Ghent), with its bright colours, precise detail and the representation of nature and geometry. Another masterpiece is his "Virgin and Child with Canon Joris van der Paele" (1436, Bruges, Groeninge museum), in which we find one of the recurring themes of Flemish painting, namely religious symbols in daily life.

The 16th century is characterised by the presence of two major artists, Pieter Brueghel the Elder and Peter Paul Rubens. As the master of detail, Pieter Bruegel the Elder excels in landscapes and scenes from farming life, with a wealth of symbols and allegories. Peter Paul Rubens is considered to be one of the greatest artists of all time. His grand and dramatic style, with rich shapes and a warm, vibrant colour scheme, make him one of the founding masters of the Baroque style. Many of Rubens' masterpieces are preserved in Belgium, especially in the Rubenshuis (Rubens House) in Antwerp.

James Ensor is undoubtedly one of the most remarkable artists of the 19th century. Through his avant-garde and modern outlook, combined with the legacy of Brueghel and Van Bosch, Ensor transcends reality into a sharp criticism of the bourgeoisie, using macabre forms such as skeletons, masks and demons.

The 20th century is characterised by the presence of two renowned artists, Paul Delvaux and René Magritte. Paul Delvaux, who was highly influenced by the metaphysical painting art of De Chirico, succeeds in creating a dreamlike and hypnotic atmosphere in his work, with the female nude taking centre stage. René Magritte is the number one among the Belgian surrealists. In the aftermath of the First World War, many artists became disillusioned, seeking refuge in other dimensions, such as the world of dreams, fantasy or the subconscious. Magritte is undoubtedly one of the most famous artists in the world, and is a Belgian icon.

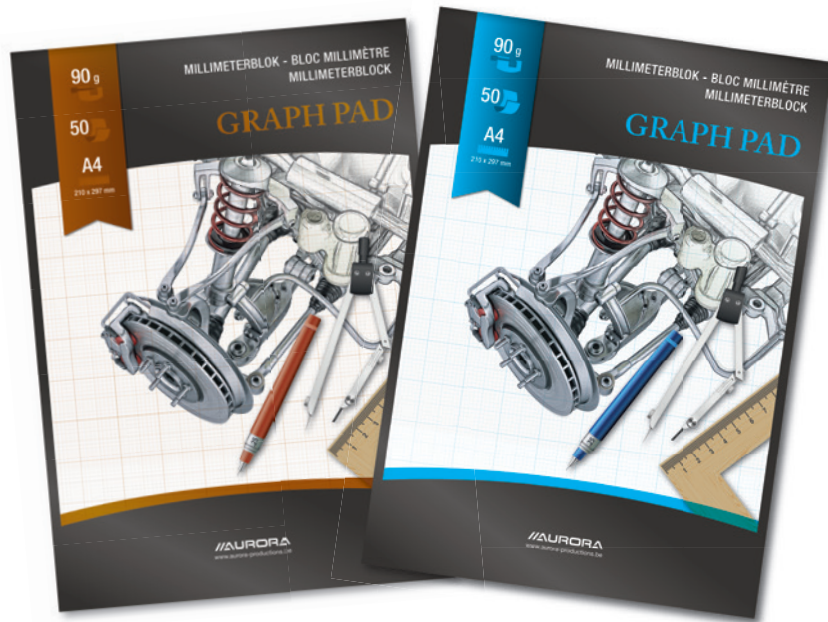

We still have leading Belgian artists today, including Michaël Borremans and Luc Tuymans.

Art is a passion. Drawing and painting are skills that everyone can improve, however. Anyone can become a better drawing artist with a little patience and an eye for detail. Practice makes perfect.
